Foreword

A BOOK goes out today, a slender blue and silver volume that holds the first new chapter of Life.
Bound between its covers are young faces, young efforts, young hopes, young dreams.
In a not far distant time its dusty and grayed covers will hold no longer dreams, but dreams turned memories.
Then locked in the pages of this book there will be the high-lights of youth, held and bound for us forever.

TO
MISS MARY ARMAND NASH
Head of the Fine Arts Department

Whose life is an inspiration

Whose time has been untiringly devoted to the good of the school

Whose students have learned not only perspective of line and beauty of color, but a truer perspective of life and a clearer conception of the beauty of living,

Senior Class History

PREFACE

To narrate in a systematic manner past events in the life of certain people, or peoples, rather than to entertain, is the purpose of this special chronicle of the Senior Class of 1930 of Central High School. The Class of '30, having already experienced the following deeds and misdeeds, wishes to leave some more material narration than mere word of mouth for the enlightenment and guidance of those who follow in our sage and venerable footsteps.

IN THE BEGINNING

In the beginning we, like countless others, were tots in the grammar schools. Whether we had a birth into education previously, or whether we were ornaments of the dunce stool, nay, but prodigies, is all too vague to attempt to recount. At any rate, the first faint realization of the whys and wherefores of our existence came zephyr-like while we were getting the three R's down pat in the local junior highs; namely, Alexander Graham and Piedmont.

THE FIRST YEAR

The first year of high school life found us as Sophomores in the imposing edifice on Elizabeth Avenue—Central High. It was a sad fall, coming as it did but a bare three months after we had experienced head-swelling exercises at the junior highs in honor of our departure. But it was not the fall that hurt, it was the rise and fall of many paddles in the hands of gleeful upperclassmen that did cause us to tingle. In ways too multiple to relate were we reminded that we were but mere Sophomores. The Class of '30 even then, however, showed that irrepressible pep and good humor which has made us nationally known, and it is no great wonder that we soon came to be treated as human by our superiors. Our first test was to build a bonfire for the Tech-Charlotte football game. This nobly done, we issued forth in great numbers to the battle the next day and enabled the football team by our enthusiastic support to beat Tech High seven to five for the Southern Championship. Elizabeth Boykin and Josephine Dandridge were our Sophomore leaders, and well did they lead us through trials and over difficulties.

JUNIORS

Juniors, the Class of '30 in its new rôle, not ours to be demeaned, but ours to demean—so we chose! (If one is to command, he must first learn to obey—as Sophomores we had been paddled.) Activities that were pried into the first year were now open for plunging, and our talented group soon gained great honor for themselves and the class. Jack Wood and John Mason were our presidents in this eventful year, and under their able supervision Efrid's Day was made a success and the huge job of entertaining the voracious graduating class was completed. But what work; and how those Seniors could eat!

THE SENIOR YEAR

The Senior year came as it must come some day to every one who waits and studies. Heed ye, Juniors and lowly Sophomores, the significance of study. The Senior privileges, however, eluded our eager reach even as always, unless we had been so disillusioned as to believe that being the busiest and hardest worked in our young lives was a "Senior privilege." Verily we did labor, aided even now by some who came from other institutions of learning to join our merry company. We again looked to Josephine Dandridge for leadership in the first semester, and to Wakefield Smith in the last. At the start, things were in a whirl, ever gaining momentum; to begin with, the Wildcat went wild on the gridiron, bringing to us that glorious honor, the State Championship. The ring committee made a choice that was approved by several class members, measurements for caps and gowns were made, mascots were chosen, senior plays were declared a howling success, a senior gift was voted upon, etc., into eternity. The track team and the basketball team added to the laurels of Central's fair name with their records.

Yea, Seniors, it has been a truly eventful time that we have spent in the halls and classrooms of Central. We go, as others have gone and as others will go, some to continue their educations in school, the rest to continue in the school of experience; but wherever we go, we will always look back on the days spent at Central under Dr. Garinger's guiding wing, and our teachers', in company with the Class of '30 and subalterns, with happiness and satisfaction.

ROS ISON, Historian.

Senior Class Prophecy

A Letter from Harriet Fraser to Mrs. James McCachren

New York City,
May 20, 1940.

DEAREST FRANCES,

I know I should have written you ages ago, but I haven't had a moment's time. I've just been down to Charlotte, and of all the gorgeous times! I think I told you I was going there to visit Rosalie in my last letter. I hadn't seen her since her wedding, but she wasn't changed in the least. You should have seen her three darling children—they have the prettiest red hair!

Every one was so sweet to me while I was there. Ethel Johnson took me out to lunch in a brand new Chrysler roadster that Willie P. had just given her. We went to an adorable little tea shoppe—Mary Anna James runs it. Peggy Ashcraft and Paul Jones ran in for a sandwich, but I couldn't talk to them long because they had to get back to the Observer office in a hurry.

Connie Small sat next to us at lunch. She's going on an European tour next summer to spend ten thousand dollars she made recently by endorsing a cigarette ad.

I saw the prettiest wedding while I was home. I wish you could have been there, but I suppose you read about it in the papers. I always knew Dick and Margaret would get married some time, but if I were Margaret I'd be afraid to have a husband like Dick. Being the greatest screen lover of the time, he gets too much attention, but I suppose she'll be his leading lady now, so she'll get as many mash notes as he will.

Did you hear about Graham Doar? It certainly is a sad case. He murdered a man because Miss Duls told him his crime stories weren't realistic enough, and now he's in Leavenworth for life. At any rate, he expects to write his masterpiece from what he learned when he murdered the man.

I saw Lillian Kendall and Dorothy Diman on the street today. They said they had opened a studio of interior decoration in New York. I thought they meant a restaurant, and I was going right over, but when I found out they didn't mean that kind of an interior decoration studio I decided not to go.

Did you know Sara Lib Motte was dean of girls at Central now? I saw her at a tea in Charlotte, and she was telling me how terrible the younger generation was getting.

Nick Laney is in New York now. I saw him the other day. He's en route to Reno to get rid of his fourth wife. He's going to Hollywood after that to try out for a new talking picture that Florence Laslie wrote. Marciel has the feminine lead. I can't wait to see it.

I read about another sad case the other day. You remember Oscar Mullis, don't you? Well, after he left high school he got better-looking and better-looking, and more and more girls became interested. He couldn't sleep or eat for girls telephoning him, and his postman had a nervous breakdown from attempting to deliver Oscar's mail. He became really worried about his popularity when he went out walking one day and seven women were trampled to death in the rush. He tried beating them off with a stick, but they were too persistent; so finally he joined a monastery, and is now lost to the feminine world forever.

Well, Frances, I'll stop now. Tell Jim hello for me, and tell Junior I won't forget his birthday. He must be quite large by now.

Good-bye, darling, and write to me soon.

Love,

HARRIET.

Last Will and Testament

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,

County of Mecklenburg,

City of Charlotte.

J. GRAHAM DOAR,
Attorney-at-Law

We, the members of the class of 1930, realizing that we are about to depart into the great beyond from whence no man returns, leaving behind all our worldly possessions, do hereby provide and direct the destinations of said possessions.

We, the Seniors of 1930, of said city, county, and state, do hereby make, publish, and present this, our Last Will and Testament.

We do appoint and direct our trusted friend William P. Johnson our lawful executor, whose duty it will be to see that the following gifts and bequests are given and bequeathed as directed in this document, our Last Will and Testament.

ITEM 1—Junior classes have come through precedent to expect from Senior classes a bequest of mentality. Having none to spare, we can only bequeath to them our extraordinary luck, with instructions not to overwork it.

ITEM 2—To our beloved teachers we give all our old exam papers that they may gaze on them in after years and sigh for the days that are gone. Let them consider that we were remarkably brilliant pupils, and not expect too much of the ones who come after.

ITEM 3—Having nothing that would be of any use to Mr. Scott, we, being desirous of aiding in his good work as Dean of Boys, give and bequeath to him our heart-felt sympathy, with instructions that he hand it out in medium doses to the poor unfortunates who are so daring as to skip physical education.

ITEM 4—To our dear Dean of Girls, Miss Norma Connell, we do give and bequeath our copyright to High School Love Life or the Working of a Young Girl's Mind, by Oscar Mullis.

ITEM 5—To Doctor Garinger, our much-loved and much-plagued leader, we bequeath five cents as the beginning of a fund to install safety deposit vaults in the gym dressing rooms.

ITEM 6—Individual bequests:

1. I, John Samuel Bell, do give and bequeath to any one who can take her from me my interest in the Tiddledywinks Team.

2. I, Rufus Richard Pitts, do bequeath my temperamental disposition to any one who has the dramatic ability to warrant it.

3. I, Elizabeth Randolph Preston Allan, do give and bequeath to Jane Fallaw my snaky eyes and slinking walk.

4. I, Sara Elizabeth Motte, do give my marvelous stage poise to Archie Thornhill. Any one who wants it can have my tremolo-voice with its touching coloratura flutters.

5. I, Harriet Olding Fraser, bequeath to future editors-in-chief my ability to do amazing quantities of work in a given length of time, provided I am allowed to grumble as much as I like.

6. I, William Harris, give my inferiority complex in the presence of the opposite sex to any enterprising young sheik in the Junior class. Let him remember that this shyness of nature is the whole secret of my engaging personality.

7. I, Janet Robinson, do bequeath my mincing walk to Miss Sue Ethel Rea.

8. I, Wakefield Erskine Smith, do give my ability to handle traffic to Don Blake, that he may keep order at the football games.

We, the Senior class of 1930, having to the best of our knowledge and ability placed these gifts where they will be most appreciated and where they rightfully belong, do in witness thereof set our hand and seal in the presence of the undersigned witnesses.

(SEAL) SENIOR CLASS OF CENTRAL HIGH, 1930,

Per J. GRAHAM DOAR, Lawyer.

Signed, sealed, published, and declared to be the Last Will and Testament of said Senior class in our presence; and we, in their presence, and in the presence of each other, and by their request, do hereby set our hand and seal as witnesses.

Senior Class Poem

Outside the gate that closed is, beyond the plains of yesterday,
Up to the hills of life we look, into the realm of destiny;
Where beckon with unceasing hands the Muses that would mould our fate;
Where calls—and never weary grows—the world out to the graduate.

There Riches call that now seem fair; tomorrow they're but ashes heaped;
And Fame from out her mansions that tomorrow lie in ruins steeped.
There Pleasure laughs, and as we go, bids us, forgetful of success,
All through the years to laugh with her in swift pursuit of happiness.

Then from the hills the voice of Truth calls, "Dare to follow where I lead;
Live on, O Youth, and noble grow, without the thought of gain or meed."
Aye, we will follow; we will walk in paths of Truth that make us free;
Guide us, Spirit, that we live truly on the heights with thee.

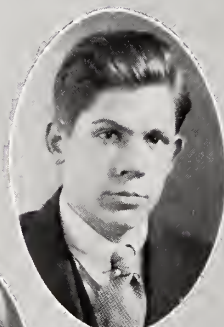

—HANNAH WILLIS.

Coaches

Be it gridiron, hardwood, or diamond, WALTER DENNIS SKIDMORE is all there to instill into his charges the knowledge, spirit, and ability that makes champions. He has made our championship hopes so "Skid" proof that each year threatens to be the Great Year, champions in football, basketball, baseball, and of course, track.

A graduate of Central, SUTTON ALEXANDER matriculated at Center College, Skid's Alma Mater, where he captained the gridders his senior year. Last fall he became assistant football coach at Central, and he comes in for no small amount of praise for the Wildcat record. Our gratitude, "Sutt."

MISS MARJORIE BONITZ handles "the woman's side of the question" at Central, and capably too, as a glimpse at her past record readily reveals. One has to be a jack-of-all-trades to keep the girls busy, but whether it is baseball, basketball, hockey, archery, or what-not, Miss Bonitz knows.

DR. HARVEY P. BARRETT hasn't his degree in track for the simple reason that one is not obtainable by any man. In these days of corrupt athletics "Doc" is a shining example of a true sportsman. In his reign of seven State Championships an ineligible has never competed under him.

Captains

NICHOLAS OGBURN LANEY is the greatest punter yet developed at C. H. S. A star for three years on the Wildcat eleven, "Nick" was elected to the captaincy his senior year. In spite of the added responsibility, "Oho" bettered his previous performances. All-State and All-Southern for two years are just a part of his athletic record.

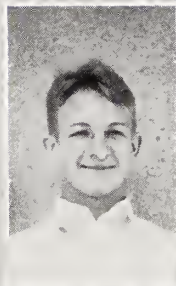

JAMES ROLAND MCCACHREN, one of the best basketballers and all-round athletes ever to represent Charlotte High, captained the Wildcat cage squad through its most successful season on the hardwood. Its sensational record is but a tribute to "J. Mac's" splendid qualities as a leader and to his noted prowess as an athlete.

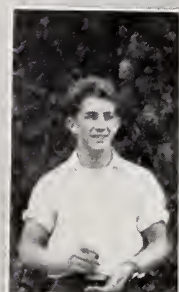

WILLIAM THOMAS GADD plays a good brand of baseball, so good that he was scouted and tendered a contract by the Buffalo Bisons. But before embarking on a professional career, "Teazor" decided to get his diploma. To that aim C. H. S. is indebted for one of its most versatile athletes and the captain of the 1930 Wildcat nine.

OSCAR LEE MULLIS holds the honor of being the only tracker to captain this sport two seasons. This big lad shines with the shot and the discus, as well as using his brawn to advantage on the gridiron. "O. K.'s" two years' track captaincy speaks for itself.

Review of the 1929 Football Season

With the return of twelve lettermen, and the hardest schedule ever faced by a Blue and Gray eleven, grid followers predicted a great season. Their prophecy was not in vain. Coaches Skidmore and Alexander quickly placed an all-star team on the field that would do credit to any high school. One touchdown was allotted Salisbury, Columbia of the sister state, and Greensboro; Columbia managed to eke out a close victory to give Wildcat stock a jolt. Even stars can improve, but it was a great feat the powerful Blue and Gray line accomplished by proving themselves as insurmountable bulwark in the next seven games, including battles with the Smoky City of Knoxville and the Tech Smithies of Atlanta. In the meantime, the backfield was giving opponents a merry chase. Decisive games were won from Shelby, Knoxville and Winston-Salem.

Then came the game of games with Tech; and the Smithies, after a great battle that dedicated the new field, lost by a narrow margin. Asheville was visited in her mountain stronghold, and last year's defeat avenged. High Point was met and routed in the game that gave the Wildcats the right to meet Goldsboro for the State title.

The much-vaunted Earthquake of Goldsboro went the way of all other Tar Heel teams when they faced the fierce Wildcat eleven, and were defeated in the final game at Chapel Hill by one of the largest scores rolled up in recent times.

A page in local athletic history was added when, after the momentous struggle in Chapel Hill, civic organizations of Charlotte and Miami became enthused over the abilities of their respective teams and arranged a post season game. The full squad then journeyed to sunny Florida as a partial reward for their great record. Here, although the Wildcats tasted defeat for the second time during the year, the North Carolina champs upheld their playing fame as the greatest team in Central's history, and one of the most powerful teams in the South.

Review of the 1929 Basketball Season

The jinx that has pursued championship hopes of Charlotte High in basketball since the founding of this institution won out again this year, in spite of the greatest aggregation of Wildcat cage stars ever assembled. Only three losses out of eighteen encounters is their enviable record.

With Captain Jim McCachren, ex-captain Dave McCachren, Harold Villas, Frank Alexander and "Goat" Hatcher from last year's basketeers, and Sam Bell, whose reputation was already established in "Y" basketball, Coach Skidmore began his plans for the 1930 campaign. His combination excelled in all departments of play, and had the fighting spirit that goes with the champion of champions.

The Davidson Frosh were encountered in two practice games, and although they were marked up on the wrong side of the ledger, the expert ball-handling of the Charlotte cagers excited much jubilation among the Wildcat followers. When Dave McCachren was found to be ineligible on account of studies, Snooks Aitken stepped into the breach and saved the day. It was this team that went through the conference schedule without a defeat, rolling up for the western half state championship a string of fourteen consecutive victories, including a win over the South Carolina champs, Spartanburg, and one over the strong prep quint from Porter Military Academy of Charleston.

At last Charlotte's dream of a State title in basketball seemed a reality. But some power allowed the Wildcats to taste a bitter defeat at the hands of Durham, and the Blue and Gray hopes for the coveted crown were again doomed to disappointment. Spectators who witnessed the game at the "Hill" will never forget the "action" that followed this bid for the title.

Enough credit cannot be given to Coach "Skid" and the greatest quint ever to represent Central, McCachren and Co., or to the lads-who-ran-up-the-score-enthusiastically, led by Snot Fort—Goat Hatcher, Bobby Graham, Maurice Peabody, Henry Meachem and Jim Barnhardt.

Review of the 1929 Baseball Season

Graduation deprived the Wildcat diamond experts of hopes for a title-contending nine; but this taken into consideration, Coach Skidmore and Captain Tom Wood managed to lead the Charlotteans into spasmodic streaks of limelight. The big trouble with the Wildcats was their inability to win games at home. This little display of temperament was characteristic of their work through the entire season.

The play was built around the brilliant twirling of Captain Wood, and the sensational little shortstop, Sam Bell. Each player, however, is due a full share of the honor for the performance of the 1929 edition of the Charlotte High baseball aggregation, for the slugging of such players as Tom Gadd, Joe Funderburk, Cliff Myers and Harold Villas must be taken into consideration.

After losing two straight, the Wildcat nine hit its peak when it upset the dope bucket to soundly trounce the Monroe outfit, who had been going great guns, by a seven to two score. Then the Charlotteans were forced from the elimination series by their loss of a hectic battle to Norwood.

Although the Wildcats did not advance to any great height in the State pennant chase or make any other material record, they played the game fair and square, as tradition dictates to a team representing the Blue and Gray of Charlotte High.

Review of the 1929 Track Season

The hopes of the Queen City trackers for a championship took a rise when it was learned that "Doc" Barrett was to place his hand at the helm. Last year business necessitated "Doc's" giving up his work with the cindermen, and as a result the string of seven State titles that was ours was broken, in spite of the efforts of Coach Skidmore.

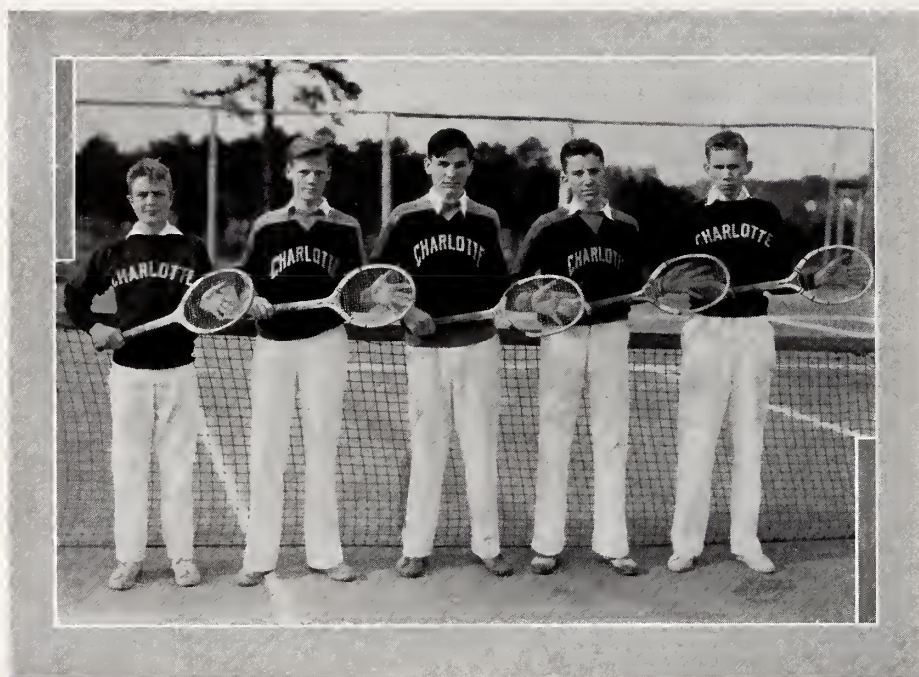

An early call was made for the track candidates by "Doc" and his assistants, Galen Elliot and Francis Byrd, signifying to those well-versed in track lore that rough sledding was ahead if the title was to be brought back home to the Barretmen.

The first meets showed the Wildcat trackers had profited by the early call; they looked to be pick of Tarheelia. In the State Meet they proved it by winning from all other comers by a safe margin to take the N. C. State Track Championship. The habit of touring to Maryland for the South Atlantic Meet was broken when Captain Mullis and Mates decided to broaden their field of conquest and enter the Dixie Relays at Chattanooga. The Dixie Relays is the Southern Championship Meet, and all the praise in the world is due "Doc," his assistants, and the trackers for placing second.

Some of the high spots of the year were: the sensational weight-heaving of Captain Oscar Mullis—at Chattanooga this husky set the record in the discus; Clan Evans's record-breaking 440 at Greensboro, time 52:4 (did not count since run was not at Chapel Hill); and the beautiful form of Jay Woodside and Squirrel Lambeth in their races—"the bobbing head and stagger stride."

Review of the 1929 Hockey Season

CHARLOTTE 0, WINSTON-SALEM 5

Although only one game was played, and that a defeat, hockey made its début into the athletic activities at Central. Winston-Salem brought a smooth-playing team here and easily walked off with the heavy end of the score, that is all of it. But a good time was had by all and plenty of exercise gained chasing the pill, so it seems that hockey is here to stay.

The Charlotte team included Captain Alice Stough, Philips, Grier, Lerch, Hadley, Garrett, Warren, Yelvington, Weinhold, Kirkpatrick, Sholar, Spivey and Elizabeth Christopher, player-manager.

Review of the 1929 Basketball Season

With three district champions of 1929 returning the Central High sextet bid fair to repeat the trick of last year, but only showed flashes of form in spite of Captain Lessie Beaver's best efforts to change the inevitable, ending the season with three victories of seven games. The Hickory lassies took the measure of the locals twice by decisive scores, but immediately after the second encounter Captain Beaver rallied her teammates to defeat their ancient rival, Derita, in the final tilt of the year.

PEGGY: Jim stayed with me three hours yesterday. He's so interesting. I wasn't bored at all.

MONTROSE: What did he talk about?

PEGGY: Me!

GRAHAM: What do you think of my new play? It has a very happy ending, doesn't it?

DICK: Yes. Everybody was glad when it finished.

BABE: I love you as no one has ever loved you before.

FRANCES: Huh! I haven't been able to feel the difference!"

MRS. SMALL: Smoking in public! Why, I would sooner become intoxicated.

CONNIE: Well, who wouldn't?

DOTTIE: You're the last man I expect to marry.

JOE: How many are there before me?

JOE FUNDERBURK: I can't read what you've written on the margin of my theme.

MISS DOWNS: I wrote that your handwriting is very illegible!

YOUR TIME?

HOW WILL YOU SPEND IT?
HOW WILL YOU MEASURE IT?
WHAT IS ITS VALUE?

All life is yours! Success in any undertaking is the only compensation for expenditure of time! It is only to be measured by a time piece of excellence! Watches kept in running order—Watches of assured reputation—Elgin, Hamilton, Howard, Bulova.

And that time of yours you've bartered for money may be represented in gold and silver, platinum and jewels—Gifts and remembrances that last forever.
